

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

Northern District of California

San Francisco Division

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

No. CR 10-0565 JSW (LB)

Plaintiff,

ORDER

v.

KAN WEN CHONG,

Defendant.

The district court referred this matter to the undersigned for an evaluation under the Bail Reform Act, 18 U.S.C. § 3142. The court held hearings on March 13, 2013, and March 14, 2013. This order addresses two points: (1) the effective date of the release; and (2) the release determination.

First, at the March 14 hearing, with the agreement of the defense, the court ordered that its order setting conditions would not take effect until after the district court considers the government's brief on the interplay of the Bail Reform Act and the competency statutes, 18 U.S.C. §§ 4241 and 4246. The defense agreed, and the undersigned observes, that this moots the government's request for a stay of this court's release order. See Government's Appeal of Release Order, ECF No. 459. With the agreement of the parties, the undersigned will not file the order setting conditions until (A) the government has filed its brief before the district court on March 18, 2013, and (B) the district court issues an order authorizing the undersigned to issue the bond form. This will allow full briefing of the parties' statutory arguments and also provides some space for the parties to consider their options.

1       Second, the court authorized release -- with the full approval of Pretrial Services -- on the same
2 conditions that Judge Laporte previously authorized<sup>1</sup> except that the court (A) removed the electronic 3 monitoring condition at Pretrial Services' request and (B) added -- at Mr. Chong's request -- the 4 condition that he take his medication. He promised to do so in court. The court did a full surety
5 advisement given that Mr. Chong spent 10 months at Butner in a custodial setting. (One more surety 6 still needs to appear and be advised of the new conditions.) The bond is attached as an exhibit.

7       At the hearing on March 13, 2013, the government made two arguments: (A) there is no
8 authority to release someone under the Bail Reform Act when there is a pending competency 9 hearing, and (B) Mr. Chong should not be released under the Bail Reform Act. As to point A, that 10 issue -- as discussed above -- is a legal issue for the district court, which referred only the Bail
11 Reform Act inquiry to the undersigned. As to point B, the government argued that Mr. Chong's 12 behavior on release previously (mostly in the form of alerts regarding the electronic monitoring) 13 demonstrated that he was not a good candidate for release, and it suggested that -- despite the 14 recommendation articulated in open court by Pretrial Services -- the supervising Pretrial Services
15 officer would agree with the government if he were able to come to court. In response to the court's 16 question, the government confirmed that the prior alerts never served as a basis for revocation of the 17 terms of release previously. The Pretrial Services officer in court (a supervisor) then confirmed that 18 Pretrial Services fully supported release without the electronic monitoring. (Also, the record shows 19 that even before the competency assessment, Pretrial Services asked that the monitoring condition be 20 released.)

21       As part of its inquiry under the Bail Reform Act, the court also read all of the competency
22 assessments to be sure that they did not alter Judge Laporte's previous analysis under the Bail 23 Reform Act that Mr. Chong was a good candidate for release. They did not alter the assessment (and 24 the government did not argue that they did).

25       In sum, the undersigned concluded that -- under a straight application of the Bail Reform Act -- 26 release is appropriate under the conditions set forth in the attached bond form. Under the Act, a

1 court must order the release of a defendant on a personal recognizance or unsecured appearance bond
2 unless release on a bond alone will not reasonably assure the defendant's appearance or the safety of 3 the community or another person. See 18 U.S.C. § 3142(b). If a court determines that release on a 4 bond alone presents a risk of nonappearance or a danger to any person or the community, then the 5 court must choose "the least restrictive further condition[s]" that will assure the defendant's
6 appearance and the safety of the community or another person. See id. § 3142(c) (listing thirteen 7 possible conditions of release and empowering the court to impose "any other condition that is 8 reasonably necessary" to assure the defendant's appearance and the community's safety). The 9 conditions on the attached bond form are the conditions that are reasonably necessary to assure Mr.
10 Chong's appearance and the community's safety.
